

Please do not relax the restrictions on broadcast decency. It is no secret that indecency breeds indecency. We already suffer enough indecency and corruption as a nation without adding to it and encouraging it on the television screen. As an adult, I do not like to be bombarded with course language and crude scenes. As a parent, I already cringe at what is deemed "family friendly." If you choose to relax your standards, it will be obvious to everyone that you have chosen the almighty dollar over doing what is right.

Thank you,

Heather Fisher

Hanford, California